SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Your class comes up for graduation at a time when the world is in turmoil and when the American way of life is threatened. I hope that your education has given you an inner peace, without complacency, in spite of the rising tide of war. You need not be discouraged by the doleful mess your elders have made of things but accept it as a challenge to make a better world. Intelligent and persistent effort exercised through the coming years by all the youth of the world will be bound to improve conditions for mankind.

W. W. Fairchild

THE VALUE OF SILENCE

How few people are remembered because of the things they did not say, or the simplicity of their statements. Yet, who does not remember the great Vermonter and former President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge?

An old proverb, "Speech is, or ought to be silver, but silence is golden," was never more valuable than at the present time of preparation for national defense.

President's Address

Tonight it is my pleasure as President to welcome you all, on behalf of the Class of 1942, to our Class Night entertainment.

Four long years have we waited for this occasion, and now it is with sadness that we must leave Rutland High School and go out into the world.

Not since 1917 has a class been graduated into such a world of strife and sorrow, but I am confident that we will all do our best to end this horrible conflict as did the members of the Class of 1917.

Many of the young men of this class will soon be in the armed forces of the United States. We shall be proud of them. The girls as well as the boys may be in the army behind the army in various defense projects. Their work will be equally essential.

We wish to thank our Principal, Mr. Mayo, and the faculty for the sincere help and encouragement they have been willing to give us at all times.

We are grateful to our parents for the opportunity to attend Rutland High School. May our future accomplishments justify their efforts.

Rutland High School has kindled friendships which will never grow cold, and of all the memories that we are taking with us from our school, if these friendships alone remain with us forever, we shall be well satisfied and rewarded.

ROBERT L. ALLCOTT

Class History

On September 8th in 1939 after a rollicking week on the merry-go-round at the Rutland Fair, we met happily about the side doors of our new home.

The Seniors met us joyfully. We soon found out their toothy smiles were meaningless and that we were merely being saved for a period of hazing. Strangely enough, after the week was over, there were still theoretically one hundred and seventy freshmen, which meant that none of our classmates had been drowned or clubbed. However, many of our sturdy men had colds in their little heads.

The Freshman Reception was our first big dance. Some Seniors said that we did an overjustice to the cider and doughnuts, but being young and active it was quite natural. All in all, it was a fine welcome to the school.

We entered wholeheartedly into the clubs and sports. Many boys were out for football and later the Frosh basketball team ran up an outstanding record while the girls went in for field hockey and basketball.

Eventually the elections were held and Bernard Kazon won the presidency and Edna Beauchamp the vice-presidency.

It was a great relief, with exams safely out of the way, to sit in class and daydream about the summer to come.

The summer came and went and we were back together again, much older and wiser, in the Sophomore year. The Freshmen were a scream. As Sophs we struggled with new studies and managed to be represented in all school activities.

Edna Beauchamp was elected our president, Dick Fuller vice-president, Ken Rabidou treasurer, and Agnes Fox secretary.

The Sophomore year led to one discovery after another. Being free of the Freshman complex, we set out to develop our talents. Several promising actors and actresses made their appearance, while the "Red and White" accepted some hopeful young journalists.

Another year slid by with the unity of the class growing stronger and the friendships becoming deeper and more important.

For the third time we returned to the big red brick school more conscious of our relationship to the not too far off outside world.

We elected Edna Beauchamp class president; Joe Jones vice-president; John Hoag treasurer; and Jerry Porter secretary.

The positions in the National Honor Society were bestowed upon Sally Marsden, Edna Beauchamp, Janet Perkins, Mary Lee and Bernard Kazon.

The question of class rings arose and for several weeks opinions were generously voiced, but we finally selected a ring that refused to turn black.

Class History

Bob Rondeau headed the Junior Prom committee and skillfully organized the "Good Ship R. H. S." in the gym. Who can forget the green rowboat that hung perilously under the balcony?

Ten young men of the class were sent to Boys' State in Northfield, Vermont, for a week of politics. Two hundred and fifty boys elected Joe Jones their governor, and our boys all held high positions.

The High School baseball team was runner-up in the state championships in 1941 and several of our class were varsity men. In basketball, football and track we were doing our part.

There was much speculation toward the close of the year concerning the sensation of becoming Seniors. It was only three short months before our vision of power was realized. In the fall of 1941 we began the long last mile.

The first thing we did as Seniors was to welcome the incoming Freshmen. We had become hardened campaigners and it was a delight to see the Freshmen taking things seriously. They turned out to be a rather decent sort and we treated them well accordingly.

The responsibilities of class president were turned over to Dick Fuller. Gerald Moore was vice-president; John Hoag, secretary. Ken Rabidou as treasurer handled over four hundred dollars in class dues. What a job!

The new Monitors became standard equipment which meant that now there was always someone nearby to poke in the ribs. Our Monitors have operated very efficiently with Joe Jones as their leader. They enjoyed guiding the wandering Frosh into the fold.

After many weeks of rehearsal seventeen seniors staged the comedy "Don't Take My Penny," which met with enthusiastic acclaim from all quarters. Soon after this the musical comedy "Fair and Warmer" drew large crowds and made another hit.

Great excitement was aroused over the selection of the valedictorian and salutatorian as we were all close contestants. Lorraine Johnson and Mary Lee finally won the honors and the remaining one hundred and fifty-eight of us tried to be good sports about the whole thing.

In the journalistic world Bernard Kazon made a prize winning paper out of the "Red and White" and the Talisman staff began their job.

And now comes graduation and we shall be together for the last time as classmates. The school that has seen us through these important years of our life will never be forgotten.

It has been here among fine young men and women that we have seen our ideals and ambitions develop. And it has been here that we have been inspired and encouraged by our principal and faculty.

We leave to be absorbed by another world. Wherever we go we shall keep the memories of our years in the class of "42" nearest to our hearts.

Class Prophecy

Do you believe in miracles? Many do not, but I want to tell you what happened to me this morning. I was looking out the open window when before my eyes I saw a newspaper come toward me bathed in yellow light. I reached out for this imaginary paper. I looked at the date—December 16, 1952. I noticed many articles about R. H. S. graduates of '42. Listen, while I tell you what I saw.

I saw a picture of Edna Beauchamp in this paper, the caption—"Distinguished American Chosen Honorary President of Gordan's Select School for Select Boys."

In the theatre section there was a column by the famous "Eddie" Smatresk, movie critic. (He got his training at the Paramount.)

Alice Johnson was honored with a medal for driving 100,000 miles without an accident. After riding with her while in high school, we can appreciate this.

In the book review section I saw a review of "The Average College Man," written by Barbara Dupuis. If we remember correctly, she has known enough college men to be an authority.

There was a small advertisement at the bottom of one of the pages, "Nice Pictures—Done Nicely"—Jones and Kellogg Photographers. Dick Jones is the outside man; Kellogg takes the "nice" pictures.

In the public notice column there was an announcement that Alison Cady was made manager of a F. W. Woolworth store, the first lady to manage one. What progress for the Defense Stamp salesgirl!

There was a picture of Natalie Feather, Sally Dorsey, and Sally's dog Lar. The mayor was giving the dog the prize at the annual Mid-Town Dog Show. I couldn't figure out what Natalie was doing in the picture. I suppose, as usual, she talked herself into it.

For the first time in history a lady has been employed by "Lucky Teter." Who should be the honored one but our own Elizabeth Congdon?

Many articles written about the foreign situation were the work of Ethel Spahn. We knew she got a lot out of Mr. Davis's Ancient History class.

In the Sports Section I found a number of interesting items. An article on Pete Bove, the famous fighter from Vermont, stated that sometimes he wins and sometimes he loses, but through all he is loyally supported by "ask the man who owns one," Harriet Lash. One of the league teams, "The Versatile Vermonters," was composed almost entirely of members of the class of '42, Rutland High. Their manager, Charles Floyd Martin, got his training for this job by being nursemaid to Coach Flaitz's Red Raiders. The league's most promising player, Louis Fusco, was a member of this team. He played short stop, and he stopped 'em all. One of our high school's best football players turned out to be a baseball player—John "Hank" Lind. Gerald Moore and Myles Pratico did all the base running for the team. What! Still running? The business manager was Bob Rondeau; he always could talk anyone into something and himself out. His greatest ability was shown in getting rid of the money. Even the bat boy was from Rutland—John Gregory. Freeman "Speed" Horton's name was mentioned as their bus driver. Their most loyal supporter was Francis Murray. He always did like baseball, anyway.

There was an article on the Art Exhibit at the Mahaney Art Gallery (owned and operated by Dan). Margaret Hall's picture "Rhapsody in Red and White" (still loyal to R. H. S.) won wide acclaim. The surrealist painting "Two Sailors and One Ship" by Yolanda Lanzillo was the most questionable painting in the exhibition.

The famous astronomer, Dr. Walter Seniecle, announced the discovery of a new star by Fern Goodyear and Julia Hesse. They said, "We were taking our customary evening walk when we looked up at the heavens and there it was." What one won't see when out walking!

This super-natural paper told of an orchestra that grew out of the '42 graduates at R. H. S. The leader, of course, would be Rutland's "Jive" man—Earle Sharrow. The rest of the orchestra was composed of girls, but I guess Earle could hold his own. Martha Smith was playing the drums—her motto, "I want to make some noise." Mildred Skuba was playing the saxophone; Elaine Stratton, the fiddle—she learned watching the fiddler at Mendon. Margaret Richardson was at the piano. She had nothing to say to the press. Will miracles ever cease! Grace Wisell was in the band, too. The article didn't say what she played, but she said to the press, "All we need now is Miss Moran."

Dhu Leonard and Elaine Guiffre were shown boarding an ocean liner for a trip around the world. We always knew they would go far.

Class Prophecy

Irene Elliot won a set of dishes at the movie. She was still in company with a certain other '42 graduate.

In the column on Vermont it was stated that Carl Walker and Marguerite Walsh were still keeping the Clarendon Dance Hall in business.

Patty Curtis was chosen as the President of the National Girl Scout Association. Shirley Crossman was her able assistant. May they keep the campfires burning!

William Dansro and Charles "Mike" Healey were in a six-day bicycle race. After the first two days they were seen sitting by the side of the road resting. The old story of "The Hare and the Tortoise."

In the annual poll of newspapers on the ten best dressed women in America Carol Havens' name was mentioned. After knowing her in high school we can appreciate this.

There was a picture taken at Pico. In the background I saw Pat Freeman still trying to make a turn with skis on. In the picture, too, was Marilyn Marceau, gliding gracefully down the mountain side; but as I looked closer, I saw that she wasn't standing up.

Hiram Huntoon, president of the United States Country Grocers' Association, was to make a speech entitled "How to Sell Food to Foodless People" at the annual convention.

There was a picture of a fashion parade. In it we could pick out several '42 graduates, among them Lillian Gallipo, Priscilla Hinckley and Madeline McCarty. Age hadn't changed these glamour girls.

In the theatre section I saw where Thelma Fisher, one of Rutland's song birds, had a part in the Metropolitan Opera Company's presentation of "Fair and Warmer."

Alice Canty was star of Broadway's newest musical comedy, "Star of Stars," produced by Charles Carroll, directed by Jack Kinsman, commonly called "Broadway's Problem Child." Coming from Rutland, they were naturally prejudiced for Rutland talent. Consequently Barbara Clark had a singing part in it. Richard Jasmin, world-famed clothes designer, designed all the costumes for it.

The Society Page had pictures of some of Rutland's graduates of '42. There was a picture of Jane Amerman before the fireplace in her camp in the Adirondacks. Another showed Lorraine Newell entering the ballroom of some exclusive hotel somewhere. We have progressed! Yvonne Davis's picture showed her on a white horse, jumping a fence at the exclusive Romano Manor. At the Glovedale's Country Club Charity Play, Lorraine Johnson had the leading role—as usual she was cast as the mother.

In Elisabeth Burditt's column "American Broth" (title changed because of foreign relations) Genevieve "Butch" Frappier, the world's most individual individualist, was interviewed. We remember her spectacular feat of swimming across Lake Bomoseen early one Sunday morning.

The valley of the Amazon seemed to be quite an attraction for some of the '42 graduates. This paper told of one expedition under the leadership of Professor Richard Edinger of the Curious Scientists' College. Two members of the party were Thelma Wolinsky, his secretary, and George Walsh, efficiency expert, probably very much needed. Harold Pippin was going along with the one job of carrying the professor's rubbers. The professor said, "One can never know what will come up." It was rumored that Edward Bartholomew was invited to go too, but when he heard he couldn't take his car, he refused. Gordon Burke was going in the capacity of mechanic, but the only machine to be taken was a small mechanical toy to amuse the professor.

I saw a picture of Kenneth Rabidou, Hollywood's man-about-town, taken while he was convalescing in the Rutland Hospital. Apparently Kenny had persuaded his former classmates, Shirley Sanderson, Esther Taylor and Shirley Parker, now graduate nurses at the hospital, to pose with him.

Agnes Fox sent in her favorite recipe to Mary Flanders' column "Kippy Kitchens."

There were two women named as possible presidential candidates, Mary Jean Ogden and Barbara Perkins.

In the personal column, Lorraine Falconi had returned to her beloved Brooklyn—Claire Stewart had gone to Hartford permanently. I saw where Janet McLellan, business woman, had gone to California to start a branch store for one of our local merchants. Another of our Distributive Education students has been successful in the field of selling—Bernice Pinney. She is in the big city working at Macy's.

This newspaper disappeared as mysteriously as it had come. As I stood looking out the window I thought "Won't all my classmates be glad to know what they're going to be doing ten years from now. I must remember every detail so that I can relay this vision."

Class Will

In order that we may not be forgotten too soon after leaving R. H. S., and to help those who will make an attempt to follow in our illustrious footsteps, we, the Senior Class of 1942, bequeath our most valued possessions to posterity at Rutland High School. We specify that they are to be used with the utmost care and consideration.

A list of carefully collected telephone numbers of promising underclass girls is left by Fat Fuller. He specifies that these be combined with those of Allan Merritt and published.

Rita LaPoint leaves to conduct an asthetic dancing class. Ed Melen leaves to be her ready, willing, and unable pupil.

All the noise he can make is left by Jerry Porter to some underclassman, to be used when things seem especially dull.

Nat Hyland leaves a collection of letters to cover the blank keys of the typewriters.

Max Welch wills his car to the Museum of Natural History. It is guaranteed to be the only car that is the fastest going as well as the slowest—coming back.

A large quantity of English themes and history notes which they have collected throughout the years are left by Barb Bump, Irene Elkey, and Eletta Goyette. Underclassmen interested in a worthy investment take note!

The greatest and most sacrificial contribution is made by Bernie Kazon. After much persuasion he has consented to leave all his gags, old jokes, and stale humor to anyone able to use them. Ah, ah, Soddie, don't grab!!!

Phyllis Clark and Connie Beaudette leave instructions on how to keep going forward.

Jimmy Carroll leaves R. H. S. his original theory about Columbus being a farmer, just because he ploughed the seas and planted his foot in America!!!

Marjorie Lesperance and Shirley Shangraw leave their best lines to Maude Ann Wiggins.

Dick Pauli leaves his notice to all R. H. S'ers.: "On and after this date I shall be responsible for debts incurred by myself only." All girls take note.

Class Will

A book of rules on how to act in a blackout is donated by Shirley Taft.

Julian Gelvan leaves the record of being the only man ever able to stand on his head and sing "Rose O'Day" at the same time.

Helen Flanders and Antoinette Barone leave their cheery smiles to anyone who needs an inspiration.

Earle Cameron leaves R. H. S. his book, "How To Free Yourself From Flirtatious Females." Ray Mainville offers a reward to anyone contributing information on how to gain enough experience to write such a book. We think Howard Derby ought to pick up a little cash.

Mary Ellen Earle and Shirley Palsa leave a promise to cheer up anyone who is blue. A quick session with them would put anyone in the pink!!!

Francis Burke has willed R. H. S. his formula of a tonic that gets rid of curls. Money received from this discovery will be turned over to Charles Stevens so he can originate a substance that will encourage curly hair. Then more people will buy the tonic to get rid of curls!!

Barb Rielle leaves R. H. S. minus a wonderful person.

Al Flory, who wants to start a circus, leaves this advertisement to whom it may concern: "Open: Position for bull fighter and piccolo player in first rate three ring circus. I supply free peanuts." Don Hackel has generously offered to play the piccolo and take care of the nuts. He leaves the position of bull thrower to Johnny Hoag.

Beverly Hesse leaves sewing instruction with some of the Junior Class girls who have aspirations to make their own skirts.

A complete collection of Paramount theater movie stars' pictures is willed by David Gale to someone who promises to do his best to get Hedy Lamarr's photograph to add to the collection.

Ruth Fredette leaves to become the national high jumping champion—she always is up in the air about something.

Alan Burr lets us in on a little secret as to why he's been so quiet lately. Someone asked him where we'd be if it weren't for the movies and he's still trying to figure it out.

Definite proof that being a good friend gets you a long way is left by Antoinette Louras and Florence King.

Class Will

Pat Abatiell intends to start a harem. He leaves an offer for some pretty girls like Marilyn Carleton and Connie Smatresk to be among the applicants!

Mary Lee leaves her singing voice to the lucky person that gets there first.

Dean Baird and Ed Dumouchel leave to start on a fishing expedition. They plan to use Howard Corey as bait.

Since she always did feel sorry for the poor Freshmen, June Haseltine leaves them this bit of carefully thought out advice: "Always try to stay in the sun as it is conducive to the ripening of green things!!!"

Sammy Hayward leaves his promising mustache to any one who will take good care of it. Bobby Allcott contributes the wig he used in the Senior Play. Together they should make a good disguise for some one always trying to evade people—Raymond Johnson, for instance.

Harold Danforth leaves to pursue his hobby of reading math books. He always was interested in figures——

After much deliberation Virginia Jasmine leaves us the greatest prediction of all times. She assures us that anyone having medical inclinations will some day cut up a bit!!!

Harvey Martin leaves an overstuffed brief case full of test-proof excuses on the highest shelf in the school library. The guarantee does not hold unless a period of one year elapses before use, as most of the teachers are pretty well acquainted with them. Ask Harv——

Sally Marsden leaves her autograph to anyone who wants it so they won't have to ask her for it ten years from now—when she's famous.

Joe Jones offers to teach how to acquire that technique with underclass girls. Jerome Muhlberg, Bernie Connor, and Bob Hughes have already applied.

Madalene Walker leaves her place in the Home Ec. Department to anyone ambitious enough to fill it.

A solution to the tire and gas problem has at last been found. Wayne Rowell recommends using horses as they don't run out of gas. George Skottet claims there is a disadvantage!!

Class Will

Shirley Woodbury leaves instructions on how to acquire a good singing voice. Practice faithfully every day for at least two hours. If you survive the neighbors' vengeance you will be ready to join Tommy Dorsey in about ten years.

Barry Mylott leaves to become a sailor because he's always at sea anyway.

Sibyl Kirby has decided to leave an encouragement to all factories to build more two-seated bicycles. Sib says this is one sure way to do away with that old argument of "Three's a crowd!"

Alice Gutzwiller and Jeanne Fish leave all the information they have acquired to the incoming freshmen so they can start off right.

Vic Segale leaves to take a ride on the "Chattanooga Choo Choo."

Shirley Stevens leaves a pack of cards with pictures of the Senior Class on them and dares anyone to find the joker!!

Positive proof that the rooster is justified in waking everyone has been found by Shirley Fairbanks and Grace Falzo. They know that every early bird always has something to crow about.

Melwood O'Bryan leaves a huge glass bowl for all the Seniors to shed their tears in.

Thirty-one cents each is left by Barbara Hinckley, Barb Purdy, and Beatrice Smith to start a student pension fund.

Geraldine Soulia and Pat Phillips leave a string of colored wooden beads for the freshmen to amuse themselves with.

Beth McKenzie and Janet Perkins leave to find out if there are really bluebirds over the "White Cliffs of Dover!"

A victrola is left by Donald Stevens to the Commuters' Club so they can amuse themselves on rainy days.

Florence Taylor and Irene Richards leave comic books to the students who haven't met Dick Tracy!!!

Nita Ward leaves a bucket of starch to anyone having difficulty in keeping a stiff upper lip!!!

Wo hope that these articles willed to you of R. H. S., will greatly aid you in carrying on where we, the Senior Class of 1942, have left off.

Ivy Oration

Today we are gathered here to plant the ivy, which in the future will represent the graduating class of 1942.

This plant will encounter many hardships in its strife to maintain its growth through the bitterness of winter, but will thrive on the nourishment of Nature's contributions during the warm months. Then it will be glorified in making Rutland High School more beautiful, as it will always impress the mind of each graduating student.

Through the four years of high school training, each student has had equal opportunity in selecting and participating in school activities. Each, individually, has had some definite aim in mind and an ambition to reach a goal so that he might inscribe his signature in the book of success.

He will find difficulties as he strives to build a life, just as the ivy, when the ice and snow threaten it with destruction; but if he is strong-willed and filled with self-determination in his desire to meet the challenges in life, he will emulate the ivy in its climb toward achievement.

RITA LAPOINT

Class Song

R. H. S. farewell forever,
Time has run so fleet,
We leave now for more distant endeavor
There our fortunes to meet.
And we shall all be striving,
Ever driving
On to greater roles,
To make men strong
And free from wrong,
Reaching life's great goals.

With these thoughts of future labor
Ever we must keep,
These binding ties that made us all each neighbor.
They rest in our souls so deep.
As we say farewell past days,
Look to new ways,
With us there abides
Scenes of the years
With joys and tears
Serving as our guides.

The school newspaper under the editorship of Bernard Kazon enjoyed renewed popularity this year. Thirty-two members, an expansion over last year's staff, composed the editorial and business boards.

The publication of approximately twenty-five issues annually, requires skillful planning and long hours of tedious labor. Aspiring journalists may derive much from their experiences and associations.

The business board headed by Donald Hackel directed the advertising drive and brought the paper through a better than average financial year. The paper captured second prize this year in its class in the nation-wide Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest in competition with sixteen hundred other publications of America.

Miss Frances W. Field was the faculty adviser.

Student Council

The Student Council is essentially an organization of representative students who have been elected to assist through cooperative effort in working out the problems of the school. Composed of the presidents of the home rooms it is the nucleus of our school government. Training the student for living in a democracy can be best accomplished by having him live in an organization which most nearly represents that democracy. During the past year under the guidance of Mr. Howard Douglas, faculty adviser, the members participated in the handling of many affairs of the school and were able to serve many useful ends.

Under the competent supervision of their faculty adviser, Miss Marie W. Johnson, the Rutland chapter of the National Honor Society completed another active season. Sally Marsden as president, Janet Perkins and Edna Beauchamp as first and second vice-presidents respectively, Bernard Kazon as secretary and Mary Lee as treasurer were in charge of the current year's activities.

As in former years the society raised funds through the sale of candy at school football and basketball games as well as at the Rotary Tournament.

In the ever impressive induction and candle-lighting ceremony which took place this year on May eleventh the four cardinal principles of the society were outlined by the officers. With due consideration, the following students who not only did well in academic work, but who also excelled in other important characteristics, such as citizenship, service, character and leadership were received into the organization:

SENIORS

JUNIORS

Stanley Burns, Earle Clifford, Jean Leavitt, Allan Merritt.

The Band

This year's band, snappy and well-drilled as usual, was trained by Mr. Robert Rowe, substitute supervisor of music in the Rutland Public Schools. Besides playing at the football games the band performed at the annual Rotary Tournament and in the Armistice Day parade. This year our band played a prominent part in the Army Day parade in commemoration of the anniversary of our entrance into World War I. Sixteen R. H. S. students journeyed to Burlington for the fifteenth Annual Vermont Musical Festival held May 7, 8 and 9 and cooperated with thirty-five hundred others to participate in the All-State Band, Orchestra and Chorus.

 Third Row: George Wood, Mary Onion, Herrick Cook, Kermit Upton.
 Fourth Row: Rodsell Hart, Ralph Pearsons, Wayne Rowell, Jack Eno.
 Fifth Row: Glenn Smith, Dorothy Stanley, Shirley Fairbanks, Robert Barch.

Orchestra

Seated: Genevieve Frappier, Earl Clifford, Phyllis Crawford, Kermit Upton, Stanley Clark, Herrick Cooke, James Phalen, Dorothea Woodfin, Mary Louise Burditt, Shirley Ross, Shirley Blair.
 Standing: Jean Fisk, Alfred Beauchamp, Charles Sabourin, Wayne Rowell, Jack Eno, Robert Barch, Earle Manning, James Tracy, Newman Rome.

Music lovers, all of them! The orchestra composed of thirty or more young musicians, guided by the baton of Mr. Robert Rowe, acting music supervisor, added inspiring tone color to our school life this year.

Selected from the larger body to perform on special occasions, the pit orchestra gained for itself an enviable reputation. The series of fine programs that have been forthcoming from this organization have been made possible through the concerted efforts of this group and its talented leader.

Girls' Chorus

One of the means of fostering the art of music among the students, and for bringing together music lovers in general was the Girls' Chorus. The past year has witnessed an increase in membership and enthusiasm under the directorship of Mr. Robert Rowe who has developed an outstanding singing group during the absence of Mr. Clifford Vanlderstine, Director of Music in the Rutland Public Schools. Musical programs have been delightfully rendered on several occasions. For the choristers their preparation for the Parent-Teachers' program, and for the Christmas assembly meant long and numerous hours of rehearsal, but they were assuredly well repaid for their generous effort.

Bomarte Club

 Seated: Betty Plumley, Margaret Hall, President, Barbara Hinckley, Helen Lines, Kathleen McKearin, Anna Vittegleo.

The members of Bomarte Club having chosen particular fields of endeavor to pursue were afforded opportunity for self-expressional work during the year. The officers assisted by Miss Lucy Doane, faculty adviser, planned a constructive program including sketching from models, landscape drawing, and modeling in clay according to the specified preferences of the individual members. One phase of the program that appealed especially to the group was the talks on many artists of present and past fame.

The club sponsored a food sale to raise money to buy a book, "So You're Going to Be an Artist" for the Rutland High School Library.

Camera Club

The Camera Club has completed a year characterized by projects beyond the usual scope of an extra-curricular activity. Students interested in making better pictures were counseled in the art and technique of taking, finishing, printing and mounting pictures, and in the care of camera lenses and equipment. New methods and improvements were discussed and experimented with at the weekly meetings. The newly-equipped dark room was available for club members' use whenever they wished it.

The most ambitious venture this year was the taking of all of the group pictures for the "Talisman." In this undertaking James Kellogg '42, Chief Photographer, was ably assisted by Ronald Reid, Charles Geno, Edwin Sharp and Reginald Swyer. Mr. Andrew J. Boratis who has been a faculty adviser for the year book for seven years supervised the work of the club.

Forensic Society

Jean Leavitt, Betty Morse, Elizabeth Thompson, Phyllis Clark, Gail Rowell, Natalie Salls, Mary Hleba, Ruth Rudin, Thelma Wolinsky, Beverly Hall, Merle Wilson, Dorothy Whitney, Evelyn Redington. Standing: Mrs. L. M. Morrill, Faculty Adviser, Suzanne Smith, Barbara Bump.

With characteristic accomplishment the Forensic Society has completed its tenth year of educative activity. The success thus far, we feel sure, is only a prophecy of its future. The meetings were both interesting and beneficial because speech study was emphasized as an educational agency rather than as a self-glorifying agency. Designed to develop intellectual capacities and interests, good sportsmanship, self-reliance, confidence, and poise, the work of the society brings fluency of speech, clear logical thinking, and a greater capacity to appraise modern affairs.

Choral speaking by a selected Forensic group added much to the effectiveness of the Christmas assembly and was indicative of real achievement.

Litamis

Under the able guidance of Miss Anna Maughan, faculty adviser, the Litamis has completed another year replete with work and constructive play. It has been the object of the club to create an appreciation of the better books and magazines and to provide actual experience in library procedure.

Meeting on the first and third Tuesdays of the month, the members prepare books for circulation, and keep the books and shelves in order. At the meetings programs are given which include literary quizzes, book reviews, and talks by members of the club and faculty.

This year to help in our national defense program, the club bought a twenty-five dollar defense bond and also joined the Red Cross. The money used in these two projects was collected by selling candy after school.

All Freshmen aspiring to be actresses and actors enjoyed their membership in the Freshman Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Carolyn Lee Allen, faculty adviser.

Meetings were planned to carry out the main purpose of the club, which was to encourage dramatic talent, and to help members achieve poise and self-confidence.

The club chose the following efficient officers for this season: Mary Hascall, president; Robert Perkins, vice-president; and Barbara Pauli, secretary-treasurer.

As a fitting climax to the year's activities two separate casts presented "The Pampered Darling" to an enthusiastic Freshman audience on April tenth, and to members of the Rutland Community Club on April fifteenth.

Home Economics Club

Those girls who do not have an opportunity to study the subject as a part of their prescribed course are enabled to do so through membership in the Home Economics Club. The clubsters, under the supervision of Miss Vera A. Perkins, faculty adviser, study home planning and management in general, but each fall select one phase to which they devote special attention. This year "living" was the choice. Educational and interesting field trips are taken in pursuit of the established goals of the club.

This organization comprising students living outside the immediate Rutland area was presided over by David Gale with the faculty supervision of Miss Audrey St. Clair, Miss Helen Bailey, and Miss Millicent Dixon. In fulfilling its objective of providing recreation for students spending the noon-hour at school the club has resulted in the formation of new friendships, the cementing of older ties and in the development of the cooperative spirit.

Monitor Squad

In Rutland High School the actual administration and supervision of traffic is in the hands of certain Seniors chosen at the end of their junior year with due consideration of their maturity, prestige, experience and personality. The student who faces and feels responsibility and submits to authority which he helps to establish is prepared for citizenship in a community.

Under the supervision of their faculty adviser, Miss Katherine Moran, the group has been active this year. In February they sponsored a dance which was a financial as well as a social success. Recently the squad revised the "Student Guide," a booklet formulated to acquaint the incoming freshmen with the traffic rules at high school. In addition to the usual routine affairs this year it was necessary for the squad members to assume responsibility in the administration of the air raid drill practices.

 Foreground: Stanley Burns and Jerry Porter.

Five years ago skiing was practiced by few high school students and thought about by only a few others. With the developments on our nearby slopes came a wildfire interest in ski-ology and the founding of a ski club at Rutland High School was one result. As the sport came into its own the club has become increasingly active and for the past two years has supported and partially equipped the school's ski team.

Perhaps the most worthwhile project undertaken this year was the promotion of ski lessons under the careful tutelage of the more proficient members.

The opening of the 1941 season revealed Coach Lloyd Flaitz and his assistants working mightily to develop a strong first line of resistance and a competent offensive. Despite steady plugging the Red Raiders lost their first games with the exception of a 12-0 drubbing of M. S. J. The aggressive eleven almost turned the tables on the Brattleboro State Champs, and still fighting with admirable pluck they completed their schedule by administering a 19-0 beating to Spaulding High of Barre.

Romano and Flory showed to advantage in the backfield where Merritt, Ferraro, Pratico and Martin gave them good support. The linesmen, Moore and Lind, who will be lost by graduation, ably assisted by Dumouchel, Berger, Jones, Healy, Fuller, Hasbrook, and Smatresk, enacted plenty of exciting football fiction on our own greensward.

Varsity Basketball

Despite the fine tutelage of Coach Jack Davis the Red Raiders due to lack of seasoned material had an up and down basketball season. This year's edition of the Varsity Raiders played excellent basketball on all occasions. The players, "Fat" Fuller, Allan Merritt, Pete Bove, "Bugga" Flory and Dom Ferraro were handicapped by a lack of experience but more than made up for it in spirit. Getting off to a slow start the team gained momentum and finished third in the Southern Vermont League.

Experience is an all-important factor and we heartily approve Coach Davis's suggestion of starting basketball in the grades.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Surviving one of the most successful seasons possible, the Junior Varsity, under Coach Leo Keefe, closed with a record of seventeen wins and two losses. The all-powerful club consisting of Phil Pratico, Earl Fredette, Warren Hoadley, Tommy O'Brien, Ray Murphy, well supported by Joe Kudera, Al Beauchamp, Ray LaFlamme, Fred McGarry and Johnny Phillips, piled up a total of 586 points to their opponents' 292. This Varsity of the future displayed a type of unity and ball-handling that hasn't been seen in these parts for a long time. We predict a fine ball club will take the floor during the next two years for the Red Raiders.

Freshman Basketball

This year, as has been customary with our Freshman basketball team for the past few years, the team came through its regular season with flying colors. The team composed of Moleanor, Rielle, Clifford, Belock, Braves, Mintzer, and Walker and coached by Mr. Leo F. Keefe gave promise of being a basketball powerhouse in the near future.

The aggregation really made a name for itself by finishing in second place in the West Rutland Freshmen Tournament. Cognizant of their league record this year we look forward to many victories from these boys when they become eligible for the varsity.

Track

This year's track team under the vigilance of Coach Douglas surprised most dopesters by becoming one of the track powers of the state.

The team composed of the veterans Gerald Moore, John Phillips and Dean Baird were well supported by the two track finds of the year, Dave Moleanor and Stanley Burns. However, the whole team was a credit to the school. The highlights of the season were: a win over Bellows Falls and Springfield in a triangular meet, a second place in the District Meet, and third place in the State Meet.

Despite a lack of tried material with which to work Coach Flaitz developed a competent, hard-working team. With only four veterans reporting from last year's championship team our team turned in a creditable performance.

The veterans, Joe Jones, Earl Sharrow, Dominic Ferraro and Benny Notte complemented with Earle Manning, Sam Terrill, Allan Merritt, Kenny Rabidou and Dan Mahaney made up in spirit what they lacked in hitting ability. With a little timely hitting Rutland could have taken a larger proportion of their games, but next year with a veteran team better results are assured.

The outstanding feat of the season was Earle Manning's one-hit masterpiece at Proctor.

MORE THAN MEETS THE EYES

A yearbook is made up of more than type and pictures—there is real work and thought on every page. The students, the adviser, the printer and the engraver work as a unit combining their efforts to make the book a success. It was a pleasure to be part of that unit this year.

CLASS OF 1943—we offer you the complete facilities of this economical engraving service in the publication of your annual next year. Our many years of experience in producing unusual layouts and quality engravings for hundreds of yearbooks, is your guarantee of satisfaction.
